Example LLC.

All trading took place in the LLC for 2012, in which a K-1 was issued for this activity.

Taxpayer wanted to maximize the 401(k) contribution for 2012, so an administration fee of $174,156 was required.

Individual 401(k) contribution calculation for a sole proprietorship, partnership or a single member LLC taxed as a sole proprietorship:

Salary deferral contribution - Although the term salary deferral is used, these businesses do not provide a W-2 salary to the business owner. For businesses of this type, the salary deferral contribution is based on net adjusted business profit. Net adjusted business profit is calculated by taking gross self-employment income and then subtracting business expenses and then subtracting half of the self-employment tax. In 2011, 100% of net adjusted business profits income up to the maximum of $17,000 or $22,500 if age 50 or older can be contributed in salary deferrals into an Individual 401(k).

Profit sharing contribution - A profit sharing contribution can be made up to 20% of net adjusted businesses profits. Net adjusted business profit is calculated by taking gross self-employment income and then subtracting business expenses and then subtracting half of the self-employment tax. You will want to ask your tax professional for assistance with this calculation.

A successful trader under the age of 50 that wants to max out his/her 401(k) plan for 2012 for his/her partnership or multi-member LLC needs an administration fee of $174,156 paid to him/her from the entity. $17,000 of salary deferrals (Taxable 1099 Misc. (self-employment earnings (box 7 of 1099 Misc.) would be $174,156) $17,000 deferral amount + $33,000 profit sharing contribution = $50,000 total 401(k) contribution. Profit sharing portion is calculated as follow: $174,156 - $9,158 (1/2 SE tax) = 164,998 x 20% = $33,000.

- ☐ No. You do not owe a penalty. Do not file Form 2210 unless box E below applies.
- ☒ Yes. You may owe a penalty, but do not file Form 2210 unless one or more boxes in Part II below applies.

Part III Short MethodCan You Use the Short Method?

- You made no estimated tax payments (or your only payments were withheld federal income tax), or
- You paid the same amount of estimated tax on each of the four payment due dates.

Must You Use the Regular Method?

You must use the regular method (Part IV) instead of the short method if:

- You made any estimated tax payments late,
- You checked box C or D in Part II, or
- You are filing Form 1040NR or 1040NR-EZ and you did not receive wages as an employee subject to U.S. income tax withholding.

Note: If any payment was made earlier than the due date, you may use the short method, but using it may cause you to pay a larger penalty than the regular method. If the payment was only a few days early, the difference is likely to be small.

Most brokers issue their own substitute statement instead of using Form 1099-B. They also may provide basis information (usually your cost) to you on the statement even if it is not reported to the IRS. Before you check Box A, B, or C below, determine whether you received any statement(s) and, if so, the transactions for which basis was reported to the IRS. Brokers are required to report basis to the IRS for most stock you bought in 2011 or later.

Part I Short-Term. Transactions involving capital assets you held one year or less are short term. For long-term transactions, see page 2.

You must check Box A, B, or C below. Check only one box. If more than one box applies for your short-term transactions, complete a separate Form 8949, page 1, for each applicable box. If you have more short-term transactions than will fit on this page for one or more of the boxes, complete as many forms with the same box checked as you need.
