Taxpayer has a W-2 job and began trading forex part time as an investor.

Taxpayer had $12,000 in forex losses in 2010 which are reported on Form 1040, Line 21 as other income per IRC Section 988. Since the taxpayer is not considered a full time trader during the period of the forex loss, these losses cannot be used to generate a net operating loss in the current year. If the loss would have generated a net operation loss, the forex loss amount would need to be removed from the net operating loss calculation.

No trading notes are required since trader did not reach trader status for 2010.

* Typical amounts are estimates derived from IRS Table 2.1 - Individual Income Tax Returns with Itemized Deductions (Tax Year 2008), posted on the IRS website. The typical column is reflective of taxpayers who claimed the deduction only. Typical amounts are expressed as a percentage of AGI, using the average AGI and average deduction claimed for taxpayers within the given range. As an example, the table may indicate that the average AGI for taxpayers within the $75,000 to $99,999 AGI range is $86,942 and that the average deduction for cash contributions (for those claiming it) within the same AGI range is $2,625. The Schedule A Analysis assumes that the typical cash contribution for a taxpayer within this range is 3.02% ($2,625 divided by $86,942) of the taxpayer's actual AGI.
